LAMAR NO USE AS WITNESS AGAIN

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.)
WASHINGTON, July 3.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Members of the senate lobby probing committee today admitted that they cannot punish Lamar for his impositions of public men, but propose to ask the New York prosecutor to act. Lamar is still here, but probably will not be recalled.

"I think Lamar has shown himself such a liar," said Senator Overman today, "so utterly unbelievable, that it would be useless to recall him."

House Will Probe

Members of the house rules committee today began drafting a sweeping resolution for a separate probe into Malhi's charges.

Henry B. Martin, secretary of the National Anti-Trust League, told the lobby investigating committee today that he and Lamar were the authors of the original resolution authorizing the Stanley Steel Trust probe. Martin characterized Lamar as a public-spirited citizen and a bitter foe of the railroad trust.

Afraid of Blacklist

Martin declined to name the members of the National Anti-Trust League, asserting the business life of its members would be threatened by the trusts if it became known that they were members of the league. He asserted that "the powers would destroy and blacklist them and cut off their bank credits." Then he detailed instances where such threats had been fulfilled.

Martin flatly refused to disclose how the league's finances are administered or where the money comes from.

Another 'Lobby'

The witness caused a sensation when he charged that Judge Lovett, chairman of the executive board of the Union Pacific Railroad, and Paul C. Rath were engaged last week in "lobbying" with Attorney-General McReynolds. He insisted these officials had been convicted under the law, yet they were granted the privilege of lobbying.
